Penna's Health Program Ranks Among Best In Nation

TOPMOST PROJECT

No Epidemics of Infectious Diseases Reported in 1947

By Jack Ward
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Pennsylvania today looked forward to anticipating marked advances against disease during 1948 with a health program ranked among the best in the nation.

With the health of Pennsylvanians topmost among its social improvement projects, the State hoped to take the lead in the constant battle against infection following notable gains in 1947.

"Pennsylvania had no epidemics of infectious disease during 1947, although the poliomyelitis incidence rate was above normal with 623 cases," reported Deputy Health Director J. Moore Campbell.

"The State continued free for the fourth year from smallpox and only slightly more than 200 of its 10,000,000 citizens contracted typhoid fever. Deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis will be approximately 3,000, a reduction of more than 300 over 1946."

Chief among the Department's projects is intensified care of school children. Under a record-breaking $7,000,000 appropriation, health authorities began expansion of their physical examination program for pupils.

At the end of the 1946-47 term 808,677 children, 22,369 teachers and 8,382 school employees had been examined. In the first month of the 1947-48 term more than 128,000 pupils underwent physical tests.

The Department's pre-school division administered immunized more than 100,000 tots under six years of age at 170 health centers. Spurred by reports of standard conditions in State mental health hospitals and clinics, the Welfare Department undertook an $82,000,000 program to expand and modernize the institutions for increased care of indigents.

By the end of the year, an estimated $35,000,000 worth of improvement projects had been placed under contract and the remainder was being expended through planning and blueprinting stages.

The Health Department's dental health division stepped up operations for the care of children's teeth by examining 723,506 school pupils—78 per cent of those eligible. Of these more than 9500 received treatment for oral defects with more than 6000 having all defects corrected.

At 75 diagnostic clinics for crippled children, health officials reported "increasing numbers" of children in attendance and "the location of many others" through school examinations. The division supplied 3625 braces, shoes and other corrective appliances for handicapped youngsters.

The State expanded its fight against rheumatic fever with the establishment of diagnostic clinics at strategic points throughout the commonwealth.

Construction of new buildings was launched at tuberculosis sanatoria and establishment of a research and treatment clinics for cancer was begun at Philadelphia.

Veneral disease control authorities reported a decided decrease in infections through the use of "the most modern techniques" at 163 clinics.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Bucks County authorities are scheduled to go to Philadelphia today to discuss the fate of the 16-year old youth who, with three companions, is being held without bail as a suspect in a Bucks County shooting fracas that resulted in the death of one man.

Magistrate William Hagan in Phila. ordered the quartet held without bail yesterday pending discussions for their transfer to Bucks County. Three of them—Harold Foster, 23; David Darcy, 22; and Harry Zeitz, 18, will have a further hearing Wednesday.

The fourth, Felix Capone, 16, has been turned over to Juvenile Court. All are Philadelphians.

All four, according to witnesses, have been identified as the participants in two Bucks County tavern hold-ups last Monday. Three men were shot in the robbery of the Feasterville Tavern, and one of the victims, William Kelly, 38, of Trevoise, died two days later.

Santa Appears Amid The Jangling of Sleighbells

On Christmas Eve, a crowd of wide-eyed children gathered around the community tree in Fleetwing Estates, where they listened to the story of "The Night Before Christmas." Gasps of wonder were heard when, to the tune of "Here Comes Santa Claus," Santa himself appeared, laughing and shaking a fistful of sleighbells.

Santa swung down his loaded pack, invited the youngsters to have a look inside, then called for a song. The children, aided by their parents, obliged with "Jingle Bells," to accompany the accompaniment. Santa then passed out a candy cane to each child present, and even gave some to parents whose children were too young to be out. After leading the group in another Christmas song, Santa (R. B. Schwitzgebel) strode off into the night.

The program was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Swan, aided by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Harrison, with some assistance from other members of the Civic Association.

INTENSIFY PROGRAMS, CLEANING STREAMS

Also for Conservation of Forest Lands in the State

SEE RAPID PROGRESS

By Jack Ward
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Intensified programs to clean up Pennsylvania's waterways and conserve forestlands highlighted the State's energetic campaign to make the best of its natural resources in 1948.

The Forests and Waters Department and the Sanitary Water Board anticipated rapid progress in both projects.

In cooperation with the State Soil Conservation Commission, the Forests Department planned expansion of the Commonwealth's farm forestry program, started in 1947, with the inauguration of a "tree farm" project for private timberland owners.

Included under the $10,000,000 flood control and reforestation program authorized by the 1947 Legislature, the project ultimately will cover approximately 3,000,000 acres of private woodlands.

Early response to the plan by private timber owners was "good," according to the Department. Pulp and paper manufacturers and power-producing utilities evinced particular interest.

The program has been designed to protect the State's forests and increase the value of trees to private owners. Despite a 35-day drought which caused Gov. James H. Duff to close Pennsylvania forestlands to hunters and visitors for safety reasons, timber losses due to fire were near a record low.

Flood problems also were at a low ebb during the year, the Department reported. Most damage was caused by "flash floods" in localized areas.

In preparation for serious inundations, the forest agency has undertaken expansion of its flood forecasting service to include the upper Ohio River and Delaware River basins. Designed to provide 30-hour

WORKMEN CLEAR ALL BUCKS TRAFFIC LANES

Crews Remain on Job All Through the Night, Clearing Snow

DRIFTS, SOME PLACES

Rural Bucks County's traffic lanes are in far better condition today than those in the heart of New York City.

All Bucks County highways and by-ways are open according to officials at the Doylestown office, Pennsylvania Highway Department, while the great metropolis of the world is practically paralyzed.

The difference is that New York City and surrounding section experienced a far greater fall of snow, 26 inches up to this morning, while in this area the fall was approximately seven inches.

With crews assigned early yesterday morning, the work of keeping Bucks County thoroughfares opened was not too difficult a task. It meant steady, hard work, and well scheduled activity, but the men stuck to the job until motorists were assured passage over all routes.

TO DISCUSS FATE OF YOUTHFUL PRISONER

Bucks County Authorities To Take Four to Scenes of Crimes

HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Bucks County authorities are scheduled to go to Philadelphia today to discuss the fate of the 16-year-old youth who, with three companions, is being held without bail as a suspect in a Bucks County shooting fracas that resulted in the death of one man.

Magistrate William Hagan in Phila. ordered the quartet held without bail yesterday pending discussions for their transfer to Bucks County. Three of them—Harold Foster, 23; David Darcy, 22, and Harry Zeitz, 18, will have a further hearing Wednesday.

The fourth, Felix Capone, 16, has been turned over to Juvenile Court. All are Philadelphia boys.

All four, according to witnesses, have been identified as the participants in two Bucks County tavern hold-ups last Monday. Three men were shot in the robbery of the Peaserville Tavern, and one of the victims, William Kelly, 38, of Trevose, died two days later.

Detective Lieut. John Hanlon testified at yesterday's hearing that the quartet has admitted to hold-ups in Palmyra, Camden and Hampton, N. J., and in Bucks, Montgomery and Delaware counties. A Philadelphia fireman, Arthur Coffin, was shot during a Hustleton robbery which the four youths admitted. Hanlon said.

Bucks County authorities today will escort the four over the route of their escapades and the men are to be asked to show just what they did.

INTENSIFY PROGRAMS, CLEANING STREAMS

Also for Conservation of Forest Lands in the State

SEE RAPID PROGRESS

By Jack Ward

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—(INS)—Intensified programs to clean up Pennsylvania's waterways and conserve forestlands highlighted the State's energetic campaign to make the best of its natural resources in 1948.

The Forests and Waters Department and the Sanitary Water Board anticipated rapid progress in both projects.

In cooperation with the State Soil Conservation Commission, the Forests Department planned expansion of the Commonwealth's farm forestry program, started in 1947, with the inauguration of a "tree farm" project for private timberland owners.

Included under the $10,000,000 flood control and reforestation program authorized by the 1947 Legislature, the project ultimately will cover approximately 3,000,000 acres of private woodlands.

Early response to the plan by private timber owners was "good" according to the Department. Pulp and paper manufacturers and power-producing utilities evinced particular interest.

The program has been designed to protect the State's forests and increase the value of trees to private owners.

Despite a 35-day drought which caused Gov. James H. Duff to close Pennsylvania forestlands to hunters and visitors for safety reasons, timber losses due to fire were near a record low.

Flood problems also were at a low ebb during the year, the Department reported. Most damage was caused by "flash floods" in localized areas.

In preparation for serious inundations, the forest agency has undertaken expansion of its flood forecasting service to include the upper Ohio River and Delaware River basins. Designed to provide 30-hour

Santa Appears Amid The Jangling of Sleighbells

On Christmas Eve, a crowd of wide-eyed children gathered around the community tree in Fleetwing Estates, where they listened to the story of "The Night Before Christmas." Gasps of wonder were heard when, to the tune of "Here Comes Santa Claus," Santa himself appeared, laughing and shaking a fistful of sleighbells.

Santa swung down his loaded pack, invited the youngsters to a look inside, then called for a song. The children, aided by their parents, obliged with "Jingle Bells," to accordion accompaniment. Santa then passed out a candy cane to each child present, and even gave some to parents whose children were too young to be out. After leading the group in another Christmas song, Santa (R. B. Schwitzgebel) strode off into the night.

The program was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Swan, aided by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Harrison, with some assistance from other members of the Civic Association.

WORKMEN CLEAR ALL BUCKS TRAFFIC LANES

Crews Remain on Job All Through the Night, Clearing Snow

DRIFTS, SOME PLACES

Rural Bucks County's traffic lanes are in far better condition today than those in the heart of New York City.

All Bucks County highways and by-ways are open according to officials at the Doylestown office, Pennsylvania Highway Department, while the great metropolis of the world is practically paralyzed.

The difference is that New York City and surrounding section experienced a far greater fall of snow. 26 inches up to this morning, while in this area the fall was approximately seven inches.

With crews assigned early yesterday morning, the work of keeping Bucks County thoroughfares opened was not too difficult a task. It meant steady, hard work, and well scheduled activity, but the men stuck to the job until motorists were assured passage over all routes.

CHRISTMAS TRAGEDIES

There seems to be nothing more tragic than loss of life during the Christmas season. Somehow decorated streets, brightly lighted windows, dazzling lighted homes and merry parties do not seem compatible with tragedy.

Yet every Christmas season many tragedies are chronicled in the news. A Christmas shopper is knocked down and killed as she hurries across a street, a carload of persons bent on a Yuletide visit figures in a traffic tragedy, a home burns down or death strikes in some unexpected manner.

This year is proving no exception. Traffic is taking a toll. Many homes have been saddened. Some member of the family has been killed or maimed.

It may seem incongruous to advocate safety at a particular season, the fact remains that tragedy at this season is particularly sad. Traffic will continue heavy until after New Year's week-end, streets are thronged, homes contain trees with fire danger and children in their glee over the season are likely to be less observant of safety rules.

Tragedies that have occurred emphasize that this is a time for everyone to be more careful. Everyone should make mental note of the hazards now existent. Stop, look and listen is an old adage, but it is especially applicable during the holiday season.

TOUGH IN GERMANY

Now that winter has set in the standard of living in Germany is sinking lower. It is impossible for the populace to exist on official food rations alone. The average consumer gets a weekly ration of one-quarter pound of sugar, a half pound of cereals, one-seventh pound of fats, five pounds of potatoes, a pound of bread and a half pound of meat, mostly fish or sausage. Sometimes he gets a little ersatz coffee.

And this promised ration, meager as it is, is not always available. One month the Germans got only 1,050 calories a day, instead of the promised 1,640 calories.

From 20 to 25 per cent of Berlin residents have hunger maladies. The average person weighs 35 pounds less than in prewar times. At least 30 per cent of school children are dangerously underfed. A hundred pounds of coal costs $7 to $8 on the black market. Wood for fuel, when available, has to be stolen.

The tragedy of this is that Germany at present is a dead weight on the shoulders of the world, or to be explicit, the American taxpayer. A well-fed, working German, properly safeguarded against activities looking to an other war, would be self-supporting and a prop to the prosperity of Europe.

But apparently nothing of the sort can be expected so long as east and west are divided and working at cross purposes, with the result that Germans are kept in idleness.

Present price of apples does much to refute the claim that money doesn't grow on trees.

It was noted that "terrific progress" had been made in the program's principal project—desilting of the Schuylkill River. Coal breakers in particular aided the project by installing systems which reduced silt pollution by thousands of tons daily.

Allegheny County's Sanitary Authority—including scores of communities and industries—showed great progress in its stream clean-up drive.

The County's $75,000,000 project has been labeled one of the most difficult engineering jobs of its kind in the country.

PARR'S FIELD GOAL GIVES FALLS FIVE SECOND VICTORY

"Kenny" Parr's field goal with two seconds remaining to be played gave the Falls Alumni team its second straight win last night on the high school floor as the Orange and Black handed the Hibernians their first loss of the Bristol Basketball League. Final score was 38-37.

The Hibeos had taken a one-point lead, 37-36, when "Tom" Donnelly dropped in a double-decker and followed with a converted foul shot. The Hibernians had a chance to increase this lead in the last thirty seconds but on two occasions chose to take the ball out of bounds instead of trying for fouls.

The losers had a poor night from the gift line, making but seven conversions in 27 attempts. "Johnny" Rodgers had a miserable night as he missed 11 fouls. He made six fielders but his poor shooting from the foul mark over-shadowed his field work.

Outstanding in the winners' lineup was "Norm" White, former Fallington High star, who scored 11 points in addition to playing a fine defensive game. "Freddie" Briggle's four field goals in the second half helped turn the tide of the game.

Joe Elmer's passing excelled for the Hibernians. Joe had six assists for his night's work and also helped himself to a field goal.

The game was roughly played from start to finish. The Falls team had 22 personals while the Hibeos had 21 fouls called on them.

Workmen Clear All Bucks Traffic Lanes

The regular crews, consisting of about 250 men, were on the job throughout the county the Doylestown office, Penna. Department of Highways, announces. Seventy trucks were busy with snow ploughs. They started their job at 4:30 yesterday morning, continued throughout the day and the night. "And they are still out," reported an official at eight o'clock this morning.

"In general the roads are in good shape throughout the county. They are all open, although slippery in spots. Men are chundering hills and curves to aid the motorized traffic. The snow stopped during the night. It is not drifting much this morning, although there is some drifting in scattered locations."

Particular attention was given by highway crews to the river road, north from Morrisville, due to its numerous curves, with coatings of cinders placed. This was also true of a dangerous hill on the Lincoln highway near Jamney; and other hills in the Pipersville, Ottaville, Warrington and other sections.

In Bristol Borough, skidding automobiles were placed in difficult positions when, while grinding to get out, they were sometimes pulled deeper into drifts at the side of the streets. Borough officials assigned crews to clearing crossings and sections around fire hydrants.

In Bristol township the greatest amount of drifting is said to be in the Emille area where in open country snow piled as high as two feet. In some sections blocked roads were given special attention and were soon open. The snow drifted somewhat during the night, it is said. Roads in the township are also slippery, and motorists are advised to use caution.

Four pieces of equipment were assigned to Bristol township highways, the regular crews including eight men. They started their task of clearing snow at seven o'clock yesterday morning, and kept at the job until 10 last night. Crews were out again early this morning. All township roads are open.

Kiddies who received sleds for Christmas were happy over the snowfall, and they and those who have been devotees of coasting for a long period had a grand time yesterday. For a while yesterday afternoon Beaver street was closed to traffic at the canal bridge in order that the girls and boys would have a place to coast.

EVERITT BREAKS SCORING RECORD WITH 21 POINTS

"Angie" Everitt, leading scorer of the Bristol Basketball League, broke the scoring record of the 1947 season last night when he registered 21 points as the Rohm & Haas team won over St. Ann's A. A., 51-43, on the high school court. It was the third straight loss for the "Saints."

Everitt made nine of his points from the foul line, he receiving 12 attempts at conversion. He made three twin-pointers in each half of the game.

Carl Bontemps, the other half of the Rohm & Haas scoring power, had 15 points to account for 36 of the winners' points.

For three-quarters of the game, St. Ann's played the chemical mixers closely but in the last period the Maple Beach aggregation scored 17 points while the St. Ann's boys registered 14. At half-time, Rohm & Haas was in front, 24-22.

Three more games will be played on the high school court next week, the playing nights being Monday, Friday, and Saturday. Fifth Ward will meet the Knights of Columbus in the first game Monday night while in the second encounter Falls Alumni meets the Croydon Vets. The battle for first place between the Rohm & Haas team and the Hibernians will take place Friday night in the second tilt.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

NO one seems to know just who deserves a medal for discovering cheese, though it is admitted some citation is in order for this highly valued contribution to man's diet.

According to popular legend, the prize for discovery should go to an unnamed shepherd who lived several years before the birth of Christ. It is supposed that he carried some dates and a goat skin of milk for his lunch. Upon opening his milk container at noon, he discovered a thin watery liquid which he tasted and found palatable. Further investigation disclosed a solid substance which he also tasted and found good.

If this shepherd was the world's first cheesemaker, the art has progressed greatly. Today, extreme care is employed in the manufacture of this vitamin-packed product in order to insure the repeated production of certain types and flavors which are the result of generations of research and experience.

Many of the well-known cheeses originated in Europe, but today they are reproduced in the United States with such success that they are considered as good as the European original.

For nourishment value, says the A & P Service for Home-Makers, cheese is hard to beat. It has been found that a pound of cheese contains enough protein to amply fill the daily requirements of two persons, and the same pound of cheese provides enough calories for one.

Cheese is a gourmet's delight, in any form, whether on a service tray with biscuits, or melted in a tangy welsh rarebit. Cheese is popular, too, as a flavor aid to meat, eggs, vegetables, rice and potatoes.

For your after-holiday Sunday dinner, try broccoli au gratin as a side dish to accompany cream of tomato soup, turkey cutlets with tomato sauce, mashed potatoes, a tossed salad, and for dessert, mince pie and coffee.

Many Important Modern Inventions Due to Ingenuity of Penna. Residents

STRIDES BEING MADE

(Prepared for The Courier by the State Planning Board, Department of Commerce.)

Many of the most important inventions are due to the ingenuity of Pennsylvania citizens or to the achievement of Pennsylvania industry. This fact is emphasized by a recent announcement that the new Western Electric Plant at Allentown, Pennsylvania, is equipped to produce hundreds of thousands of artificial crystals for the control of telephone circuits. Such crystals have, in the past, been largely cut in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, from quartz imported from Brazil.

They are vital to modern radio and television and to the operation of the many telephone circuits which are now carried from city to city by a single cable.

The discovery that suitable crystals can be grown artificially from organic chemicals will make possible a much more rapid extension of long distance telephone circuits. These piezoelectric crystals can be used to control the wave length of a telephone or radio circuit within very close limits so that many telephone conversations can be carried simultaneously on a single coaxial cable or the many narrow wave bands needed for television to be broadcast and received without interference.

Pennsylvania technology has always had a distinguished place in American progress. The Pioneer developments in the motion picture, in steel production, in the production of aluminum, carborundum, synthetic graphite and of vulcanized rubber are due to the genius of Pennsylvania inventors. Even in the field of atomic energy the experiments conducted at Marcus Hook, Pennsylvania, by the Houdry Process Corporation point to one of the most important peacetime and life-saving aspects of the most daring discovery ever made by man. At this plant an isotope of carbon, known as Carbon 13, is being produced for the use of medical investigators. This carbon is radioactive and can be used for the production of articles of food. When taken into the human body the processes of digestion and assimilation can be studied in health and disease and a new door is opened for the solution of those mysteries surrounding the degenerative illnesses which are now among the largest causes of human mortality.

18 medium-sized carrots
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup brown sugar

Place drained peach halves in a greased 1 quart casserole. Melt jelly over direct heat, stirring occasionally. Add peach juice and heat thoroughly. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice and pour over peach halves. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Remove peach halves from jelly-peach syrup and squeeze a few additional drops of lemon juice over each half. Sprinkle each peach lightly with powdered cloves. (Use remaining jelly-fruit syrup in salad dressing, dessert sauces, or beverages.)

bined. Return to double boiler and stir for an additional two minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add soaked gelatin, orange juice and rind. Let chill for one and one-half hours. Fold stiffly beaten egg whites into pudding. Line serving dishes with gingersnaps. Fill with alternate layers of orange pudding and gingersnaps, ending with a layer of gingersnaps. Chill in refrigerator for several hours or overnight. Garnish edge of serving dishes with gingersnap halves.

Yield: 8 Servings.

Cider Pot Roast

PARR'S FIELD GOAL GIVES FALLS FIVE SECOND VICTORY

"Kenny" Parr's field goal with two seconds remaining to be played gave the Falls Alumni team its second straight win last night on the high school floor as the Orange and Black handed the Hibernians their first loss of the Bristol Basketball League. Final score was 38-37.

The Hibbies had taken a one-point lead, 37-36, when "Tom" Donnelly dropped in a double-decker and followed with a converted foul shot. The Hibernians had a chance to increase this lead in the last thirty seconds but on two occasions chose to take the ball out of bounds instead of trying for fouls.

The losers had a poor night from the gift line, making but seven conversions in 27 attempts. "Johnny" Rodgers had a miserable night as he missed 11 fouls. He made six fielders but his poor shooting from the foul mark over-shadowed his field work.

Outstanding in the winners' lineup was "Norm" White, former Fallington High star, who scored 11 points in addition to playing a fine defensive game. "Freddie" Bringle's four field goals in the second half helped turn the tide of the game.

Joe Elmer's passing excelled for the Hibernians. Joe had six assists for his night's work and also helped himself to a field goal.

The game was roughly played from start to finish. The Falls team had 22 fouls while the Hibbies had 21 fouls called on them.
